NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Johnson Brothers & McNeil have purchased the Deacon Howard starch mill in Westmore, for a little less than $2,000. People who get their supply of wood o'nighte from meeting houses in process of construction, should make a trade for it before taking it. Base ball may be well enough in its place, for those who are not constituted to follow some more sensible employment, but when it is practiced on the fair grounds, Suodays, there are people just foolish enough to think it is rather out of place. Have a little regard for other people's feelings, boys, if you haven't for your own welfare. During the present week that long established insurance agency of Geo S. and Walter A. Shaw has changed hands, the Shaws having sold their interests in the business to Hon N. P. Bowman and E. D. Hopkins. The new firm will sustain the enviable reputation of the old in good business manage ment and dealing on the square. Mr Shaw senior will spend his time as an adjuster for several companies while Walter goes into a mechanical business. An advertisement next week will announce further particulars. Mr John Alvord, Summer street, has a little daughter seven years old, whose limbs were so contracted and drawn up that she was unable to walk. Last Friday a distinguished surgeon, Dr Sayre of New York, assisted Dr Browne, Dr Brooks and Dr Webster of the United States army, performed the operation of severing the con-tracted muscles and tendons for the relief of her deformity. Of course it is impossible to tell now how successful the operation was, but the physicians say that her symptoms are favorable. Mile Hutchinson and wife of Concord were detected last Saturday in helping themselves to goods without leave, at Fairbanks' store. They were arrested and lodged in jail while officers went to Concord and searched their buildings where they found several hundred dollars' worth of stolen property. The neighbors say they have had and disposed of a good many goods that peo-ple in their circumstances were not upt to have. Their examination was to have come off on Wednesday, but Milo thought he would rather meet his God than any earthly judge or jury and so plunged a razor into his throat. But he didn't strike hard enough to open the carotid artery, and he therefore farries a while longer on this mundane sphere, and his trial is postponed. H. P. Shorey has bought George Cook's

The first gold medal ever awarded by the Vermont state agricultural society, in the mechanical department, was awarded, at the recent state fair, to Howe's scales for superiority "in points and qualities" over any other scales manufactured.

The victims of pick-pockets at the state fair turn out quite numerous. One gentle-man lost $111 in money and a $300 check; another a gold watch, and several ladies

Last Sunday night they stole the coverings that people had put over their vegetables to keep them from the frost. The Chittenden county fair proved a financial failure. Too much money was invested in the "hoss trot." Mrs Emily Gould, the lady who for a number of years has been so successfully en-

Ren Butler is not forthcoming-not this The impression seems to prevail that the fair this year will not be what it should be. No speaker, no balloon ascension, not much shakes for a hoss trot, a premium of $25 for base ball playing and a division of feeling in regard to cha. ging the time of the fair to ecommodate somebody's else trot seem to bave disheartened many. The assistant superintendent Floral hall requests all young ladies not over fourtoen years of age to bring to the fair samples of their baking and mending. Let each bring a loaf of white bread baked by herself or a stocking darned by her own hands. This will be a fine chance to see how well mothers have instructed their daughters

n household duties. The superintendent of Floral hall is makarrangements to compare the fashions and music of the present day with that of a hundred years ago, and if he succeeds in carrying out his plans this will be an interesting feature of the fair. The modern style will be illustrated by a piano operated by a young lady "dressed to kill;" the ancient by an old ady in antique costume plying the spinning wheel, just as a good many young ladies ought to be doing at the present time. A premium of $25,00 is offered for the winning base ball club. That is all very well. Now why not give a premium of $25.00 to the winner of a game of croquet, and you might add another for a game of tree, 3d, 6. hide and seek. The spectators would no doubt be amused at the latter game and there is a right smart chance for it. Let us have the lunds of the society devoted to some useful purpose and not squandered on such foolish things as the best tub of butter or bushel of wheat! To the Patrons of our County Fair :

As the display in Floral hall the past few years has been rather meager, and feeling that a good show there is one of the most attractive features of the fair, I respectfully ask all who desire to make it a success to contribute whatever of merit or curiosity they may have in their possession, such as household manufactures, flowers, embroidery, needle-work, worsted, penciling, drawing, photographic and other pictures and fancy I also invite any who may have household articles of any description known to be one hundred years old, any ancient mechanical or farming tools which will enable us to contrast the ancient with the modern, to bring them in. On the afternoon of the second day there will be exhibited a contrast of the fashions and music of 1775 and 1875. We desire to have a museum of curious articles procured from foreign countries as well as our own. It being so late in the season we cannot expect so great a display of flowers, but I trust there are enough which have escaped the frost to make a creditable show, and the more difficult, the greater the merit.

We also respectfully ask any whose names are down as committees and know of any be filled by others, in order to avoid confusion and dissatisfaction on the day of examination.

The Barton Fair.

The show of colts, mares, stallions and driving horses was unusually good, and did credit to the owners. The display of cattle covy ducks, 2. was smaller, accordingly, than that of horses, but many good oxen and young cattle were shown. Albany and Barton were the only towns having strings of oxen. The Jersey stock was well represented; there were many excellent animals—bulls, cows, heifers and calves. From the interest manifested in this stock, it is evident that the farmers are very favorably inclined toward this breed a horse and a dog. Loss from $1,200 to $1,500. Insured for about $800.

Possesses a combination of Advantages which commends it to general use, being light, simple, cheap, durable and effective. It can be easily operated by one man, on level, side-hill, or swampy land. To move a building it works horizontally. PRICE $25.00.

Fifteen pounds applied to an eight-foot lever will raise one ton, and by adding a single onlier the power may be doubled. The Machine, without the chain and lever, weighs, according to size, from 25 to 50 pounds.

It can be easily and cheaply mounted on a wagon, using ox-cart wheels behind, with a ong axletree, or by using four posts framed into pole runners.

Rocks can be hauled into wall at once. Apply to T. C. NARAMORE, Williston, Vermont.
